It all starts with that first look…It all lies in that first line… these first words that come out of your mouth. They are the ones that determine the outcome of this encounter.
It is a scientific fact that many women fall in love through their ears, through what they hear and through the beauty of the words. Many people would remember, tell their friends the next morning and even share with their grandchildren the most memorable, the funniest, and the most outstanding chat-up lines they have heard in their lives.
The “Pick up lines” is a book about the art of saying the right thing to the right person at the right time. Some will appeal to one person, others will appeal to another. It’s a skill to avoid using the same pick-up lines on different people. In the roots of it all is hidden honesty and imagination.
